Following your learning on the module Environmental Principles of Global Sustainable Development (GD105), write a critical evaluation of your submission for the Pre-Term Task, for which you responded to the question, “In your view, what is the relationship between humans and their natural environment, and how do you personally evaluate the current status of this relationship?”

In your answer, you should make detailed references to your original response, and explicitly illustrate learning of key concepts, frameworks and theories, as well as substantive knowledge about the environmental issues we have discussed.
