

LMS PROSPECTS IN MATHEMATICS MEETING

7-8 September 2018

Mathematics Institute, Zeeman Building, University of Warwick

All Finalists Maths Undergraduates, who are considering applying for a Maths PhD in 2019, are invited to the 2018 LMS Prospects in Mathematics Meeting.

The meeting will feature a range of speakers from a wide range of mathematical fields across the UK who will discuss their current research and what opportunities are available to you:

Statistics & probability: Jason Miller (Cambridge); Christina Goldschmidt (Oxford); Darren Wilkinson (Newcastle)

Discrete mathematics: Nina Snaithe (Bristol); Julia Boettcher (LSE)

Analysis & applied mathematics: Federica Dragoni (Cardiff); Ben Leimkuhler (Edinburgh); Felix Schulze (UCL); Ivan Graham (Bath)

Pure mathematics: Rachel Newton (Reading); Andras Juhasz (Oxford)

Mathematical biology: Chandrasekhar Venkataraman (St Andrews)

50 places are available, including overnight accommodation and some funding towards travel costs.

To apply: please apply directly online at <https://tinyurl.com/LMSPIM2018>; or send an email to Dr Stefan Adams (s.adams@warwick.ac.uk) headed Prospects 2018 Application. Please include the statement "I am on track academically to begin Ph.D. studies in 2019" with evidence of your predicted degree classification. Application deadline 18 July 2018.