

Residential Life Team

Vacancies for 2012-2013

"The Residential Life Team plays a vital role in enhancing and supporting student development, ensuring the student experience at Warwick is second to none. As an academic member of staff the role provides me with transferable skills in management and leadership, which is beneficial in terms of leading modules and research projects."

Dr Justin Greaves (Deputy Warden), Teaching Fellow, PAIS

"The Residential Life Team is a diverse community with people from all over the world. Being able to support the students and working with other residential staff helps me to develop my own skills, such as effective communication, team working, and task management. The Residential Team work closely together and become friends, sharing their own cultural and residential experiences. I really enjoy and feel proud being part of it."

Li Li (Sub Warden), PhD Candidate, WIE

"Being a resident tutor and interacting with my students on a daily basis gives me a unique opportunity to understand their experience of university and campus life. This is extremely helpful for my day job, which involves training student ambassadors and promoting a positive image of the student experience to our alumni and other stakeholders."

Sam Burdock (Resident Tutor), Annual Giving Assistant, DARO
