APPEALS PROCEDURES FOR POSTGRADUATE AND POST-EXPERIENCE COURSES

Purpose of this Form

This form is intended to help students who are considering making an appeal against the decision of the examiners to set out the grounds of their appeal clearly, and according to the terms of the University’s Regulations on Appeals.

Circumstances in which you may appeal

Taught Postgraduate Courses

You should read University Regulation 37 (section 5) - Governing Taught Postgraduate Courses - before completing this form. This is available in the University Calendar at http://go.warwick.ac.uk/calendar/section2/regulationsnewtoc).

You may only appeal on the grounds specified in University Regulation 37.5(2).

You may not appeal against marks awarded for individual pieces of work. You may not appeal if you have been awarded a Master’s degree but have not been awarded a distinction.

Research Postgraduate Courses

You should read University Regulation 38 (section 9) - Governing Research Postgraduate Courses - before completing this form. This is available in the University Calendar at http://go.warwick.ac.uk/calendar/section2/regulationsnewtoc).

You may appeal if you have been awarded a lower degree than that for which you were originally registered, if no award has been made, or if, following upgrade, a department decides that you may only continue your registration for the degree of MPhil. You may only appeal on the grounds specified in University Regulation 38.9(2) and 38.9(4).
