Rules for Connection to the Campus Data Network

Connections to the campus data network are subject to the following rules:-

1. Prevention of Disruption

No device connected to the data network should cause disruption to the network. IT Services may require the disconnection of individual devices causing such disruption, or may disconnect a part of the network which is causing disruption.

2. Identification and Registration

A connection to the campus data network may only be made by a device which identifies itself with a unique network address centrally registered for its sole use.
