An introduction to the concepts behind the University of Warwick Publications Service and the Warwick Research Archive Portal (WRAP)

WHAT IS OPEN ACCESS?

Yvonne Budden, E-Repositories Manager

What is Open Access?

“Open-access literature is digital, online, free of charge, and free of most copyright and licensing restrictions.” – Peter Suber.

What are the drivers of Open Access?

- ‘Serials Pricing Crisis’
- Publisher’s licensing agreements
- The advent of the World Wide Web
- Open Archives Initiative

What is available already?

- Peer-reviewed literature
- Digital libraries
- Grey literature
- Open Source Software
- Open Data
- Open Educational Resources
- Social Media/Web 2.0 content
- Archived websites
- Video's
- Audio files
- Photographs and fine art
- And many, many more!

Discussion:

thelibrary

Why is Open
Access useful and important to researchers?

Who benefits from Open Access? (1)

- Researchers
  - More exposure
  - Universal access
  - Easier information discovery
  - New research techniques

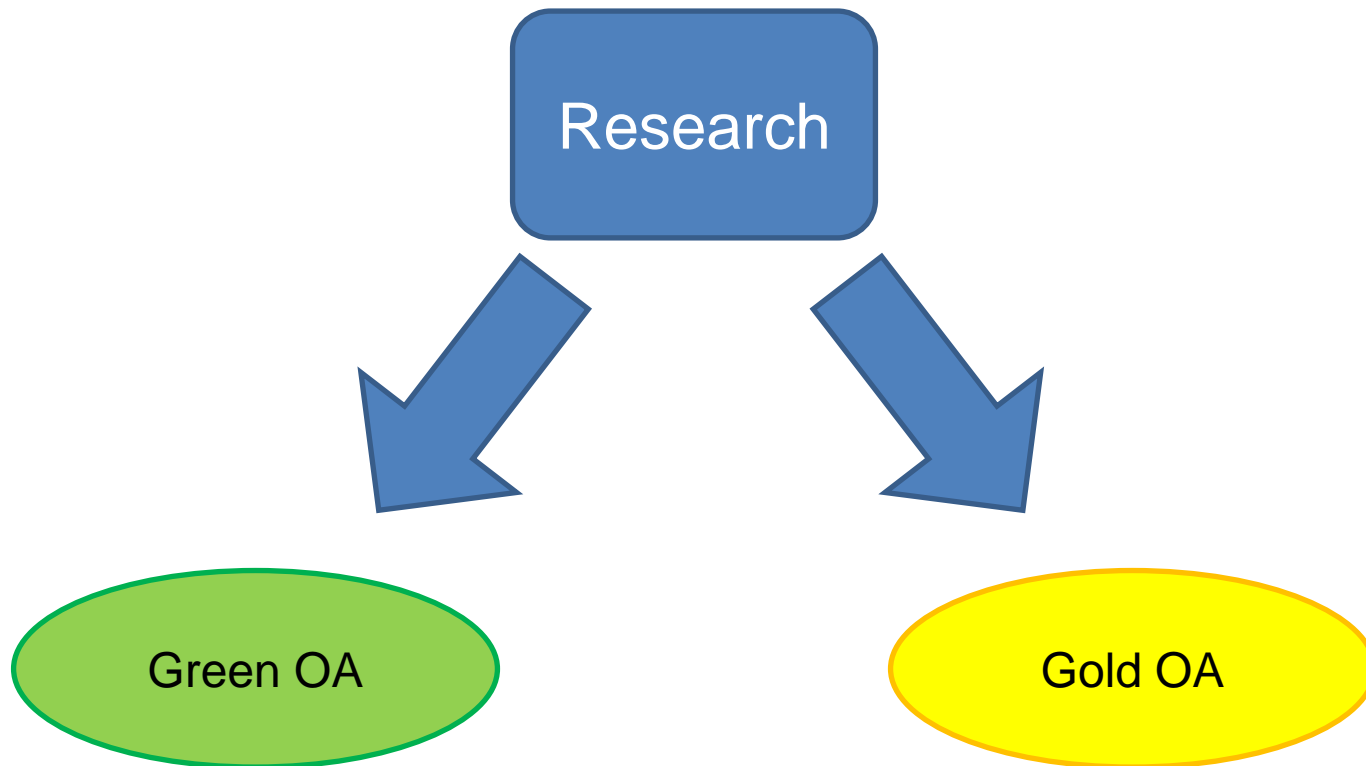

Source: CARL ABRC and SPARC (2008) “Greater reach for your research” http://www.carl-abrc.ca/projects/author/sparc\_repositories.pdf

Who benefits from Open Access? (2)

- Students
- Universities
- Libraries
- Research Funders
- Government
- Members of the public

How is work made available Open Access?

Two main routes available:

'Gold' Open Access

- Similar to traditional publishing.
- Provided through Open Access Journals and through Open Access options in traditional journals.
- OA Journals operate in the same way as 'toll' journals and can be peer-reviewed or not.
- Subscriptions charged to those interested in disseminating the content, not the reader.

'Green' Open Access

- Also known as 'self-archiving'.
- Housed in archives/repositories that represent either an institution or a discipline.
- Usually contain pre-prints and post-prints but some hold the publisher's version.
- Depends on:
  - Publisher permission.
  - Researchers being aware of/retaining their rights to their content.
  - Researcher's depositing their material.

Green OA @ Warwick

- Happens through WRAP (<http://wrap.warwick.ac.uk>)
- More on that later....

THE UNIVERSITY OF
WARWICK

Introduction

- Research outputs are a key institutional asset
- Individual authors and the University should obtain maximum value from these assets
- The Library has been asked to build a comprehensive list of Warwick publications
- Help reinforce Warwick's global reputation and those of its authors in a competitive sector
- Already over 39,000 records from 1960s onward from Web of Knowledge, WRAP, departmental lists etc..
- Regularly more than 25,000 visits a month.

Benefits of the Service

- Increases visibility, presence, (impact) and helps build 'critical mass'
- Quality controlled record of an author's work, managed by Library staff
- Supports internal and external assessments, e.g., lists of work for RAPG, REF
- Will reduce duplication and effort by populating other systems

Separate, but Linked Services

thelibrary

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar with 'WRAP: Warwick Research Archive Portal' and 'University of Warwick Publications'. A left sidebar contains navigation links: Home, About, Browse (all) by Year, Browse (all) by Subject, and Browse (all) by Department. The main content area features a 'Welcome to University of Warwick Publications' header with Atom, RSS 1.0, and RSS 2.0 feeds. Below this is a paragraph explaining the service's aim to provide a complete listing of research outputs, with a link to WRAP for full-text access. Four content boxes follow: 'Latest Additions' (view items added in the past week), 'Search Repository' (search using a full range of fields), 'Browse Repository' (browse items by department), and 'About this Repository' (more information about the site).

The University of Warwick Publications service aims to provide a complete listing of the research outputs produced by the University. Many of the records contained in this record are citation records only, if you are only interested in the open access, full text outputs please see the Warwick Research Archive Portal (WRAP) from the tab above.

Using the System

Methods of Deposit

- Designed to minimise the time impact on researchers
- Four main routes:
  - Directly into the site
  - Email details of your papers to the Publications Team (publications@warwick.ac.uk)
  - Deposit through a departmental contact
  - Send us your up to date CV and we'll do the rest!
- Reminders through departmental contacts

University Publications Policy 2011

thelibrary

All publication references should be deposited with the Publications service

- Includes works by postdoctoral researchers.
- [Does not include deposit of full text in WRAP]
- It is intended that University processes such as RAPG/Strategic Planning Meetings will draw on records in the Publications service.
