Welcome to the School of Modern Languages and Cultures

Dear Warwick student of languages

Welcome to the start of an exciting academic year. For those of you who are new to Warwick, the busy first few weeks will naturally be both exciting and bewildering. This induction booklet is intended to help you find your way in those first few of weeks of term. You should use it alongside the other materials in your welcome packs and the material on our web pages.

In weeks 1 and 2 you will find yourself attending a number of introductory sessions that will enable you to meet all the staff that will play a part in your studies here. You will also have a diagnostic language test in your major language(s), intended to help you and us find out where you are at this early stage in the year.

By the middle of week 1 you will be beginning to attend regular classes, too. Your language modules are core modules, but you’ll find that you may have a choice about the other modules you can study this year (choice will vary according to your degree course). We actively encourage you to try out different modules in weeks 1 and 2, but ask that you come to a firm decision about your chosen non-language module/s by the end of week 2, and inform the School office about your choice.

We hope you settle in quickly and enjoy every aspect of your new surroundings; but if anything feels overwhelming, do not hesitate to ask for information and guidance in the School office and from your personal tutor. You’ll have the opportunity to get to know staff and some current students at our School welcome social event, which we hope very much you’ll attend.

We hope that 2017-18 will be one of real achievement and excitement for you.

I wish you a great start to the term!

Alison Ribeiro de Menezes

Head of the School of Modern Languages and Cultures
IMPORTANT ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION

Procedures for enrolment

All the information you require is set out on the university’s dedicated web page here:
Welcome to Warwick

Staff

You can find contact details for all our staff members here:

Harpal Singh
Communication

The School office is on the ground floor of the Humanities Building (H0.57). Just outside it you will find a first-year noticeboard. Take time to find it and get in the habit of checking it on a regular basis as we will display important notices here.

Email

You must use your Warwick email address for all purposes while you are at Warwick rather than a private email address. Members of staff will only use your official Warwick email address when contacting you. The University’s email system is web-based which means you can access your emails from anywhere in the world so there’s no need for you to use any other. If you do not check your messages regularly you may miss out on important information.

Contacting members of staff

All members of academic staff post ‘office hours’ (or ‘consultation hours’), when they will be available without appointment for consultation by students. You will find these adjacent to staff office doors and on their personal web pages (accessible via http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/modernlanguages/people/academic/).

Outside of these hours, it may not be possible to contact members of staff immediately, since they are involved not only in teaching but also in research and administrative activities. If you cannot reach someone you want to speak to, you can send an email about whatever it is that you want to discuss, including to arrange an appointment for a face-to-face meeting.

Remember to keep us up-to-date with any changes of address or telephone number via student records which you can access through the My Warwick app.

Data Protection Act 1998

The School complies with the Data Protection Act 1998. Personal data held in the Department is required to be "adequate, relevant and not excessive to the purpose for which it is processed".

Finding your way around

The University has an interactive map that you can use to find your way around—this link will take you to the relevant page: https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/about/visiting/maps/interactive/

When looking for rooms within buildings, it’s useful to know the coding system that the University operates—if we take room H4.44 for example, H4 stands for Humanities Building fourth floor and 44 is the number of the room.
HOW THINGS WORK IN WEEKS 1 and 2

The First Week

Your course packs will set out in detail all of the different events and meetings you will need to attend in week 1. Here is a general outline of what to expect:

- Introductory talks (a general School-wide talk and talks from individual departments and sections). If you are doing a joint degree with a department outside of the School of Modern Languages and Cultures, make sure that you note the times for the induction sessions in these departments
- Meetings with your personal tutor
- Diagnostic language tests
- Lectures and seminars (with the chance to try out non-language modules)
- Attend Study Skills sessions
- A School of Modern Languages welcome drinks reception
- A visit to the Transnational Resources Centre

Weeks 1 and 2 checklist of key documents and requirements

☐ Complete your University Registration
☐ Complete your IT Services registration (for e.mail account and access to University network)
☐ Register with disability services if needed (you can also talk to your personal tutor or senior tutor about this)
☐ Ensure that your personal details are correct on My Warwick
☐ Check/Compile your timetable (blank timetables are available in your packs)
☐ Meet your personal tutor
☐ Attend diagnostic language tests as appropriate—information is available in this booklet and on your Week 1 programme
☐ Visit the TRC—information on times is available in your pack

TABULA

Tabula is the University’s system for managing attendance, timetables and class allocations. You can reach it via My Warwick or at https://tabula.warwick.ac.uk/. You will find details of your personal tutor and after week 1 see all your classes and a timetable.
Online Module registration (EMR) and choice of Method of Assessment

All students are required to register their modules and assessment methods via the University’s Evision Module Registration System.

This can be accessed from your my.warwick page and the University’s central Academic Office will send you instructions on how to register your modules at the start of term.

Please try to complete your module registration in the first week of term so that you have full access to your online timetable and course materials. The final deadline for registering your modules and assessment methods is 20th October 2017 when the system will close.

Failure to register your modules and assessment may lead to you being excluded from an examination or assessment. The University may also apply a fine of £10 if you fail to register by the deadline.

Study skills sessions

The School of Modern Languages and Cultures fully supports the development of its students’ study skills and academic writing abilities. Support is offered through several methods, combining lectures with a dedicated Moodle online platform offering a range of written materials and information on further resources, plus regular surgeries, in which students can privately consult Amanda Hopkins, the Study Skills Co-ordinator.

First–year students attend a series of lectures that introduce the higher reading, learning, writing and self–evaluation methods needed for university–level study. Moving from A–level to university involves a learning curve — sometimes quite steep — for the vast majority of undergraduates: however good your A-level results were, you should not be surprised if your earliest formative work at university achieves lower marks than you are used to, and this is likely to continue until you learn the advanced techniques required and adapt to university–level study. The Study Skills programme and materials are intended to help you develop your skills as quickly and smoothly as possible, but it is your responsibility to attend the lectures, use the online resources, and learn the new methods and approaches so that, by the time you enter your first Honours year, you have absorbed the relevant skills.

One of the biggest differences between school and university, especially for Humanities students, is the amount of individual study involved. You should read the introduction to Study Skills in the Welcome section of the Study Skills Moodle page as soon as possible in order to find out how to prepare for lectures and seminars. You should also make sure to attend any introductory sessions offered by the Library so you can learn how to use the advanced research tools provided on its website, and how to identify and find appropriate research materials. These materials, and the way you engage with them, will be another major change from what you have been used to at school.

The School’s Study Skills support will continue through your intermediate and final years, with refresher lectures, Moodle materials and surgeries.

INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS IN FRENCH

Language Classes

You will have 4 language classes per week:
- Oral class (begins week 2; oral groups arranged in week 1)
- Writing French (Essay) seminar (begins week 2; groups set out in your course pack)
- Grammar and translation lecture (begins week 2; Friday 11am in H0.51)
- Grammar and translation seminar (begins week 2; groups set out in your course pack)

If you have a timetable clash that means you will need to change your language group, please see Sylvia Howell or Marion Imber in the Language School office.

Diagnostic test (French)

This test lasts an hour and will be taken on a computer under examination conditions. The questions will be short (multiple-choice, gap filling and so forth). The test does not count in any way towards your end-of-year mark. We use it simply to learn something of your strengths and weaknesses at the beginning of the academic year. Your grammar tutor will receive your results in the first few weeks of term, and these will then be passed on to you.

The test will take place in rooms R041 and R039. These rooms are next to the Library café and are accessed from the outside using a university card.

The test takes place at the following times:

Thursday 5th October
- 2.15 pm – 3.30 pm: all students following these degree courses: French Studies, French and History, French and Economics, French and German, French and Italian, French and Theatre Studies, French with Arabic, French with Russian, French with Spanish, French with German, Hispanic Studies and French, Hispanic Studies with French, French with Italian
- 3.45 pm – 5.00 pm: all students following these degree courses: English and French, French and Linguistics, Politics, International Studies and French, BA Modern Languages / BA Modern Languages and/with Linguistics, BA Modern Languages and Economics

You are asked to arrive 10 minutes before the start of your allotted session.

To help you prepare become familiar with the computer package, there is a short mock test for you to try on your own machines. You can find the link to the mock test here: https://perception.warwick.ac.uk/perception5/ldap.php?device=html4. It will be available for you to try from Wednesday 3rd October.

Following the grammar test, throughout the year you will undertake a series of grammar exercises on this platform, linked with the grammar lecture programme.

Oral classes

You will sign up for your oral class on Friday 6th October 11-12 in H0.51. Please bring a copy of your timetable.

Using Online Learning Resources

In Week 2 you are required to attend a training session that will take you through the e-learning opportunities available to you through the French web pages (see details on the next page).
Using Online Learning Resources

In Week 2 you are required to attend a training session that will take you through the e-learning opportunities available to you through the French web pages.

Computer Assisted Learning Induction times:
Language groups A – C
Wednesday 11\textsuperscript{th} Oct, 2 - 3pm in R0.39

Language groups D - F
Friday 13\textsuperscript{th} Oct: 2 - 3 pm in R0.41

Language groups G - H
Friday 13\textsuperscript{th} October: 3 – 4 pm in R0.41

What happens if you really can’t make your session?
If you are unable to attend at your allotted session time, please email: c.m.hampton@warwick.ac.uk to arrange a slot in another session. It is important that you attend the session given to you wherever possible in order to ensure that in any given session students have access to a computer.

French culture modules

The choices available to you in the non-language side of your degree will depend on your degree course.

Degree structures can be found here: \url{http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/modernlanguages/applying/undergraduate/courseoutlines}

Please note the following important dates in week 1 for optional modules (available according to your degree structure):

- FR119 French Society and Business (convenor: Béatrice Julé-Keogan):
  (available to French Studies and French with... students and as an outside option to other SMLC students with A level French)
  First lecture = Wednesday 4\textsuperscript{th} October, 9 – 10 am, H0.03 and then 12-1 pm in H4.43

- FR121 The Story of Modern France (Convenor: Cathy Hampton):
  (available to all students of French and as an outside option to other SMLC students with A level French)
  First lecture = Friday 6th October 1—2 pm L4 (Science Concourse)

- FR122 French Cultural Landmarks: Love, Language and Power (convenor: Cathy Hampton)
  available to French Studies, English and French, French and History and French with .... students and as an outside option to other SMLC students. All texts taught both in English and French)
  First lecture = Thursday 5\textsuperscript{th} October, 10 – 11 am, H1.02

Please take a look at the web pages for these modules before you attend the first lecture and read through the information associated with it. We won’t expect you to purchase texts before you have chosen your module(s) but you will get much more out of the lecture if you have a sense of what is being covered.
Salut tout le monde! As a student elected committee of second and third year French students, it’s our pleasure to welcome you to Warwick. It’s our mission to make sure that you get the most out of your experience here as French students. Not only do we provide academic support, working closely with the French department, we also regularly organise a range of social events. Having fun outside of the lecture hall is our top priority!

We want you to come to our society as a source of entertainment as well as a source of support and guidance. Follow us on Facebook to see our regular #Frenchmemeoftheweek and #Frenchphraseoftheweek.

We look forward to meeting you all.

Events include:
- Circles
- Film Nights
- Themed bar crawls in neighbouring Leamington Spa
- French conversation Brunches
- A short getaway to French speaking Europe, location to be revealed beginning to mid term one.
- An annual ball in collaboration with Lit Soc and our fellow language societies.
- Collaborations with other language societies, and many more.

Join us at our upcoming events!

Come and find us at the Fresher’s Fair and collect a leaflet on our first term events! They can also be found on Facebook, so please join up.

Feel free to add us on Facebook/message us if you have any questions.

INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS IN GERMAN

Language classes

GE101/GE102

(Module Leaders: Grit Brendecke)

You will have 3 language classes per week: Translation, Grammar and Conversation/Comprehension class. Translation and Grammar classes are allocated according to the results of the diagnostic test.

To find out which Translation class and which Grammar class you have been allocated and to sign up for your Conversation/Comprehension class, you have to come to one of the following drop in sessions in H2.11:

Thursday, October 5 between 12.00-3.00 pm or
Friday, October 6 between 1.00-3.00 pm

Make sure to bring a copy of your timetable!

Once allocated, you must not change your German Language classes. For any unavoidable clashes please see Grit Brendecke at the above times.

All classes will be published on Tabula at the end of week 1.

First year language classes will start in week 2.

Diagnostic test

Wednesday, October 4th, 11am in B2.02 Science Concourse (if you cannot make this time, please come at 2pm to H2.11)

The test is a translation exercise from English to German focusing on grammatical accuracy.

If your first language is not English you may bring a dictionary from English in to your native language (French, Russian etc.)

You will be allocated grammar and translation language classes on the basis of the Year 1 Diagnostic tests, so it is vital you attend.

You should consult the GE101/GE102/GE103 Modern German Language I webpages for further details of your language work and assessment.

GE103

(Module Leaders: Grit Brendecke)

You will have 5 language classes per week.

Your first meeting is on Wednesday, October 4th at 2pm, H202.

It is essential that you come to this meeting. Please bring a copy of your timetable!
German Cultural modules

Tutorials, Seminars, Lectures

Lectures will begin on Wednesday in Week 1; tutorials and seminars start in week 2.

You will have to sign up for seminar groups for GE108 and/or GE109 on Thursday/Friday of Week 1 once you have been put in language groups. If you need to move groups due to clashes talk to Dr Jim Jordan J.A.Jordan@warwick.ac.uk (H2.13) for GE108, Dr James Hodkinson J.R.Hodkinson@warwick.ac.uk for GE109, or Grit Brendecke g.a.brendecke@warwick.ac.uk (H2.11).

- Lectures are closely related to seminar and tutorial work, and provide an introduction to the subject matter of the module. Regular attendance provides a clear outline of the field of study, which your seminar work and further reading will complement. You will find details of lecture times for the specific modules in this booklet. During the year module tutors will make available lists setting out, in advance, the topics to be covered.
- The organisation of seminars and tutorials is a little different. You should sign up for Seminar and tutorial groups (see above).
- Remember that seminars are your opportunity to ask questions, express your views, and discuss the views of others, including your tutor’s. Careful preparation according to your tutor’s requirements is essential if you are to benefit fully from seminars and tutorials.
- Students on the German Studies single honours degree will need to choose an optional module. Your personal tutor will be available to advise you on this.
- Please note that it is a requirement of German Studies that you purchase your own copies of all primary texts for GE108 The Changing Face of Germany in Film and Text, and GE109 Aspects of German Culture in the Age of Enlightenment.
German society is proud to be the largest language society on campus, and we strive to provide our members with amazing socials and entertaining educational events too. We regularly organise nights out to Leamington and Coventry, house parties and, of course, POP! circling. We also host fun and relaxed events for those who wish to practise their German skills, such as Stammtisch evenings in the Dirty Duck and quiz nights, which are suitable for both beginners- and advanced level German speakers. We also run both a football and netball team, which play weekly and provide another great way to socialise!

The highlight of the GSOC calendar is our annual tour! This year we are travelling to Berlin during term 2 reading week, which is guaranteed to be filled with laughs and jäger aplenty. We are currently in the process of organising this year’s trip, and welcome any suggestions of activities that our members would like to do. We really cannot recommend this tour enough to freshers; not only is it a great opportunity to visit our beloved Deutschland, but it’s also the best way to gain a great group of friends. More information on tour will be given out later in term 1!

Being a member of German Society means being a part of a welcoming, friendly and fun-loving society. We can’t wait to welcome both new and returning members to GSOC, and to help them make this year great fun! Please visit our facebook page ‘Warwick German Society 2017/18’ to see our exciting plans for this term!

Year abroad in Italy

You can choose to go abroad in Year 2 or Year 3.

In the first weeks of term 1, we will describe more fully the ERASMUS+ schemes that are open to you. We have exchanges with many universities across Italy, and opportunities for student-negotiated internships. We will also be arranging a meeting with students who have just returned from Italy so that you can hear directly from them their experiences and suggestions.

If you are interested in going abroad in your second year and want to discuss it further, please contact as soon as possible the Year Abroad Coordinator (Dr Mila Milani, m.milani@warwick.ac.uk).
Italian Society

Benvenuti a tutti gli studenti del primo anno, vi aspettiamo a Warwick Italian Society!

Warwick Italian Society is a social society not only for students of Italian, but for all students who would like to get to know Italian people or have a passion for all things related to il bel paese. This year we’re planning a lot, so come and get involved! Expect aperitivo evenings, food socials, bar crawls, society outings and much more! Not only are we a highly social society, but we are also a place for Italian students to come to should they ever want to chat about all things Year Abroad and language related - we’ll be planning some informal evenings where you can come and chat to us about these things!

Until then, come and find us at the Societies Fair Wednesday 4th October and join our Facebook group to stay updated - a prestissimo!
