

Space, Place and the City

The Migration, Identity and Translation Network (MITN) invites you to participate in a new research cluster on “Space, Place and the City”.

The aim of the research cluster is to bring together postgraduate students with similar or complementary research interests, with a view to facilitating fruitful discussion, collaboration and intellectual innovation across both campuses.

Two “Reading Group” events will be held in the first half of 2016, in which cluster participants will convene via the international portal to discuss seminal texts related to the “Space, Place and the City” theme. Two texts will be sent out to cluster participants at least three weeks prior to each event. Exact dates for “Reading Group” events are still to be confirmed, but are likely to fall close to Monday 14 March and Friday 27 April.

Areas of interest include, but are by no means limited to:

- Urbanism, habitus and social space
- Place and non-place
- Third space, migration & postcolonial literature
- Walking, wandering and the city
- The city as a site of translation

If you are interested in being involved, be sure to attend the next MITN event on Wednesday 3 February. You can also contact the cluster organisers:
